MEMORIAL SERVICES

In Honor of Private James Kellum To Be Held Monday 8 a. m. at St. Patrick's Church.

Memorial services in honor of Private James Kellum, the first Maysville boy to be killed in the present war, will be held Monday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church.

The services will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and everyone is invited to be present in honor of this brave young man.

High Mass will be said for the peace of his soul and beautiful musical numbers have been arranged.

A service flag, with one golden star will be dedicated to the memory of Private James Kellum.

James Kellum was a great favorite among all who knew him, especially that class known as the toilers, and this is the opportunity to show their respect to this Maysville hero, who has made the supreme gift—his life—for his country, by attending these services. He was a hard-working boy here, the sole support and comfort of a widowed mother, and the sacred portals of St. Patrick's Church, the church he loved so well, should be filled to overflowing by all of our citizens, regardless of their religious beliefs, and show that his life was held as dear to us as any of the other boys who have made the supreme gift to their country.

Mr. Ward Wallingford of the county, made a business trip to Cincinnati yesterday.

GO TO WORK OR GO TO JAIL, SAYS NEW LAW

The recent act of legislature which goes into effect Monday, June 17, says that all able bodied men between the ages of 16 and 60 years shall labor not less than 6 hours per day at some lawful labor. The Chief of Police is required to arrest all loafers on the streets, depots, pool rooms, hotels, stores and public places on a charge of vagrancy and see that they go to work or jail.

Chief Harry A. Ort in an interview with the Ledger reporter said that this law would be rigidly enforced.

GERMANS MAY NEXT STRIKE FOR CHANNEL

NEW AND MORE VIOLENT BLOW IS LOOKED FOR

Present Quiet on Battle Front Indicates Preparation of Plans to Make Supreme Effort—American Military Experts See Purpose of Germans to Cut Apart Allied Armies in Drive for Channel Ports.

Washington, June 14—The present lull on the battle front in France only presages a new and more violent storm of attack on the Allied lines in military opinion here. The impression is rapidly strengthening that the stage is almost set for renewal of the German main thrust at the British army around Amiens with the channel ports as the objective.

Belief has never wavered among the majority of officers here that the real purpose of the German general staff has been from the first to cut the Allied armies apart by a drive that would carry them to the channel; that arrival at that goal, massed attacks would be hurled against the northern sector for the purpose of destroying the British army, while a strong defense was maintained against the French to the south. The thrusts at Paris have been looked upon as well planned and executed feints designed to weaken the Amiens front before the final effort should be made there.

On no other theory can these observers explain the sequence of German operations in the great battle; and so on other basis, they say, the campaign of defense waged by General Foch be understood.

It is a battle in which the ultimate reserves will win the day, as the fight is seen here. If the German general staff considers the present situation along the vast front stretching from Ypres on the north to the south, promising for the final effort, the ultimate German reserve is now being assembled for the attack while fighting fronts take breath.

Some observers believe further efforts are to be expected to flatten out the Compeigne salient completely before the main attack is resumed. If so, they argue that the next flare of activity will come along the front of the Compeigne salient where the fighting has just paused momentarily. Simultaneous assaults from the north near Authieux, from the southeast between Chateau Thierry and Villers Cotterets forest, and from the eastward, between Soissons and the forest probably will be launched. It is thought, if Compeigne is regarded as vitally necessary to future German moves. In that case, the American force above Chateau Thierry stands directly in the path of one attack.

Other observers are almost convinced, however, that the situation not only permits but demands that the enemy main attack be pressed without delay, as American aid is coming forward more swiftly than the Germans possibly could have estimated would be the case. The German coup must be attempted before the Americans can turn the scale of man power.

Official announcements show that approximately half a million American soldiers have landed in France since the German drive began. Already they have aided in stabilizing the lines as they now stand. At a recent date American forces held in all more than fifty miles of the whole western front. One element of General Pershing's mobile forces, by direction of General Foch, guards the way at the apex of the whole German wedge near Montdidier. Cantigny, recently recaptured from the Germans by these forces, is very close to the point of maximum penetration achieved by the enemy in nearly three months of desperate fighting.

Secretary Baker's re-affirmation yesterday of American confidence in General Foch was made with full knowledge, for Mr. Baker was in Europe, in conference with the Allied chiefs, when the plan of campaign now being followed was worked out. He knows why no effort has been made to wrest the initiative from the enemy. Many officers who do not know are frankly puzzled and cannot understand why some of the obvious openings for a great counter thrust have not been seized.

FORTY-THREE MORE MEN

The local Draft Board has received instructions to issue a call for forty-three white men to entrain for Camp Zachary Taylor on Friday, June 28th. They will all come from Class 1 and are former boys.

After this call is taken from this Class there will still remain about forty eligibles for the next draft.

SUFFRAGE LEAGUE MEETING

A meeting of the Mason County Suffrage League is called for Monday, June 17, at 2:30 p. m. Not only the members but the friends of the cause are invited to attend this meeting, for it comes more in the nature of rejoicing and thanksgiving than a regular meeting, due to the President's message of endorsement to the International Suffrage convention in which he expressed the hope that the United States Senate would pass the Suffrage amendment, both as an act of justice and a recognition of the noble work women are doing in this supreme crisis of the world's history.

The delegates who attended the State Federation at Lexington last week are expected to be present to give news of this interesting convention.

NEW KIND OF SLACKER

Washington, D. C., June 15.—The newest type of slacker and one who is doing his country a great amount of harm, is the man or woman who buys or even encourages the purchase of platinum jewelry, according to the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior. For the country is and for many years will be desperately in need of the scarce and precious platinum in its industrial work and must have it if the war machine is to go full speed ahead.

A plan proposed by the Federal officials would stop the use of platinum in jewelry, not only for the war but for all time. Officials of the government who are in close touch with the situation are filled with apprehension as to the future supply of platinum. As far as can be learned, it is believed that aside from the large amount of platinum metals in the form of manufactured jewelry, a large part of which is in private ownership, there is less than twenty-five per cent of the normal stock of unmanufactured platinum in this country available for the needs of the war.

In an effort to fill the immediate pressing needs of the government in its war program, the War Industries Board has ordered that seventy-five per cent of the stock of platinum in the hands of manufacturing jewelers be commandeered and also the complete stock held by refiners, importers and dealers, but this, it is said, will only fill a small gap and that temporarily.

It has been hoped by Federal officials and chemists throughout the country who understand the seriousness of the situation that the whims of fashion might yield to national needs and that purchasers of jewelry would demand gold and silver or a white alloy and so release platinum for its highest use, but the results have been disappointing.

The American Chemical Society, an organization composed of the leading 12,000 chemists of the country, which is also back of this movement, has issued an appeal to the people not under any circumstances either during the war or after the war to use platinum jewelry, but to conserve this unique and fast dwindling metal now priced at five times the cost of gold for the exclusive use of the chemical and other necessary industries. The first purpose will be to obtain a sufficient supply of platinum for the needs of the war, and then to retain the production of the future for the industries. It is claimed that even before the war, as a result of this unreasonable craze for platinum in jewelry, the highly important work of the chemists has been curtailed and research work, especially in the universities, handicapped by inability to meet the constantly rising price of platinum.

"The utmost importance of the entire country coming to a full and correct understanding of the dire need of platinum in the industries, and especially the war industries, is apparent to all technical and scientific men," said Van H. Manning, Director of the Bureau of Mines, but, unfortunately, the people generally have not the proper conception of the situation. This condition has arisen naturally through the insistent advertisement of platinum jewelry, the buyers being unaware of the need of platinum in the industries.

"The scarcity of platinum throughout the world and its high price is apparently due almost solely to the fact that the women of this and other countries have been recently led to consider it a choice article for adornment. I believe this to be due to an entirely false conception, as there are other white metals equally available for the setting of gems and the production of jewelry, which would be used in jewelry today except for the fact that they are not so costly as platinum. When the price of platinum was less than that of gold, there was practically no demand for it in jewelry and only a slight use as a setting for gems. Over fifty per cent of the country's supply of platinum is now used annually for jewelry; an entirely unessential purpose. No jewelry is more easily imitated than platinum and much white metal jewelry is now on the market which cannot be told from platinum by the uninitiated.

"It is inconceivable to me that any woman would wear a lead-colored ring or bracelet or adorn herself with lead-colored jewelry, except that its artificially produced high price has been made to give it a false value in her eyes. When our basic war needs for platinum are going to be met only with the greatest difficulty, I certainly cannot consider the purchasing of platinum jewelry patriotic and it appears to me to be very doubtful good taste at any time.

"I am most heartily in favor of any crusade that will have for its purpose the banning of platinum for jewelry for all time and under all circumstances. I believe that the women of the country are as patriotic as in any other country and that when they understand the situation, they will decline to purchase platinum jewelry and also, if the occasion ever arises, give up all platinum jewelry they now have.

"The Bureau of Mines is pleased to lend its efforts to those of the American Chemical Society in such a patriotic endeavor."

A movement among the women of the country to discourage platinum in jewelry has been initiated by the American Chemical Society. The Women's National League for the Conservation of Platinum has been formed as a national organization with Mrs. Eliwood B. Spear, Cambridge, Mass., as chairman. State councils have been formed in fourteen of the leading states of the Union and even the efforts of the college women have been enlisted. Already throughout the country thousands of women have signed the following pledge: "I will neither purchase nor except as gifts jewelry and other articles made in whole or in part of platinum so that all possible supplies of this precious metal shall be available for employment where they can do the greatest good in the service of our country, and I further pledge my influence to persuade others to take the same patriotic stand."

"The patriotic crusade to stop the use of platinum in jewelry has already had a splendid effect," said Dr. Charles L. Parsons, Secretary of the American Chemical Society. "It is some months ago that the society recommended that an appeal be made to the women of the United States to discourage the use of platinum in jewelry and that all citizens be urged to avoid its use for jewelry, for photographic paper and for any purpose whatever, save in scientific research and in the making of articles for industrial needs. The National Academy of Sciences adopted a resolution to this effect and the Daughters of the American Revolution at their recent meeting pledged themselves by formal vote to refuse to purchase or accept as gifts jewelry made in whole or part of platinum, so that the available supplies of this precious metal shall be available for employment where they can do the greatest good in the service of our country.

"I believe the only thing necessary is to show the women of the country what really had taste it is to wear a metal which certainly in the form of rings, bracelets, mesh bags, etc., has no beauty over lead or recommend it and no advantage over many other cheaper metals, except its one item of high cost. The country is very short of platinum and we cannot see where the necessary supplies are coming from. Platinum ought not to be used in jewelry either in war time or in time of peace. It is too greatly needed for the development of chemical science and industry. The Russian mines, from which 95 per cent of the platinum comes, are reported to be nearly exhausted. The Russian supply is now virtually in German hands. The United States has not nearly enough in sight for its probable war needs during the next two or three years and as the jewelers now use over 50 per cent of the platinum that comes into commerce, they must be held responsible for its scarcity.

"Platinum in my opinion should be 'tabooed' by all American women who wish to see their country successful in this war and success after the war in keeping its lead in the industrial and scientific developments. The opal has been considered unlucky. Accordingly, it is buried in the feminine mind little value as a gem. I believe that without ever using the phrase, the Women's league for Conservation of Platinum has already begun to instill into the minds of American women what really 'had taste' it is to wear a metal that looks like lead in rings, bracelets, etc., simply on account of its high price. I also believe that the 'slacker wedding ring' made of platinum will soon be a thing of the past.

"It is perhaps not realized by the public that platinum is necessary in the production of nitric and sulphuric acid, the essential in all explosives.

"It is absolutely essential in the manufacture of special pyrometers and no gun can be made without the use of a pyrometer.

"Some necessary signal instruments are dumb without platinum.

"Platinum is essential in the composition of certain delicate gas mechanisms.

"The rapidly growing chemical industries, engaged in war work, need platinum in their laboratories.

"Platinum is required in the new plants the Government is erecting with such feverish haste for the manufacture of nitrates from the air. These nitrates being needed for fertilizers and munitions.

"With out platinum all experiments in gases would be greatly handicapped.

"The so-called platinum used in electrical work is like the jeweler's platinum, an alloy of platinum and iridium, but with this difference that the proportion of iridium is ordinarily greater in electrical platinum than in jeweler's platinum, and for some work may be as high as fifty per cent. Unless one is informed he does not realize that each telephone and telegraph instrument has platinum contacts, that every high-grade magnet for aeroplane, automobile, motorboat, or gas engine has from two to six contacts of platinum, and that the multitude of contacts on the telephone switchboard, on the relay instruments of both the telephone and telegraph lines are of platinum.

"There are a large number of different kinds of electrical control systems in which platinum is used, one of the most important of which are the thermocouples for the electrical control of heat in furnaces and ovens for a variety of purposes. While the actual quantity of platinum in any single piece of electrical equipment is very small and its value almost negligible in comparison to the value of the whole instrument, yet the great number of these instruments, which have been and are being made for the government work, calls for an unbelievably large quantity of platinum and iridium for their construction."

"The marvelous ductility of platinum, one of the elements that make it so necessary in industrial work, is better conceived when it is considered that out of a single troy ounce of the metal it is possible to make an almost infinitely slender wire that would reach about 1800 miles. To draw out platinum into so extremely a fine wire it is covered with a thin layer of gold. This new wire is drawn to the

FOURTH OF JULY WILL BE BIG CHAUTAUQUA DAY

The 4th of July will be one of the big days in Chautauqua history in the city of Maysville. In the afternoon little Miss Alice Shrode will give the audience a unique entertainment.

Little Miss Shrode is a wonder worker in the art of entertainment. For several years she has been one of the biggest successes in the Independent Chautauquas, and she is sure to delight everyone when she appears here.

"It's dandy fun to go around to the Chautauquas," says little Miss Alice Shrode, the child artist, who is to appear at the Chautauqua on the sixth day. "But sometimes I get hungry just to stay at home and play with my dolls. Of course, mother travels with me, and that makes it easier, and folks are very kind to me. I guess I have always liked to make folks laugh, that's why I get so much out of my entertainment. Some folks say I am a great artist, but I don't think so. I am just an ordinary girl who has tried harder than some other folks to do something that I wanted to do. Instead of playing all the time I have worked a lot at this thing that I am trying to do on the platform, and that is the reason that it now seems fun to me, and I am having so much fun out of it."

On the same program will appear Senator Harold C. Kessinger in his

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Maysville People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Maysville testimony.

Mrs. E. Spahr, E. Second and Walnut Sts., says: "I have never seen Doan's Kidney Pills fail to help anyone complaining of their kidneys. I have been greatly benefited by them myself. At times my back has ached and I have suffered from lameness through the small of my back. When I have been in that way, I have used a box or so of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Chanor's Drug Store. They have always quickly removed the trouble."

Mrs. Spahr is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Spahr had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents at all stores. famous lecture "The America of Tomorrow."

To those who are not intimately acquainted with the brilliant career of this young statesman we present the following introduction:

"The youngest state orator in America is coming to our Chautauqua. He is Harold C. Kessinger of Aurora, Ill. He served two years in the House of Representatives of Illinois before being elevated to the Senate. Since he was fifteen years of age young Kessinger has been a platform speaker and he won his success in politics chiefly through his ability to present his cause from the rostrum. He made a rough and ready campaign speaking to crowds where ever he could assemble them, personally visiting the factories at the noon hour and speaking to men and his eloquence and enthusiasm so attracted the citizens of his Senatorial district that he was elected over veteran politicians. He is a clean-cut manly young man and will win the confidence and esteem of every hearer.

In the evening we are to be favored with a Patriotic Pageant "Our Allies" assisted by little Miss Shrode and supervised by the Junior Chautauqua leader assisted by Miss Virginia Mae Hurd and her assistants.

Those who have never witnessed a Pageant by the Junior Chautauqua it is hard for us to give to you the proper conception of the wonderful program this Junior leader is able to present with local talent in the few days she has for rehearsals.

In the evening Senator Kessinger will deliver another forcible lecture entitled, "The Face at the Window."

(Vancouver (B. C.) Province)

The following was heard on a street car one very cold day in winter in a Canadian city. At a corner the car was boarded by a husky soldier in the picturesque Highland uniform—the kilts of which leave the knee bare. On the car was a young dude still in mufti, seated with his best girl.

The girl cast admiring glances at the attractively uniformed "kilties," much to the displeasure of her slacker escort. So he endeavored to make fun of the uniform by remarking: "I think that outfit is most ridiculous. That fellow's knees look as if they were frozen."

The kiltie, overhearing the comment, glanced contemptuously at the dude's elfish clothes, then scornfully replied: "Well, young fellow, it is a sure thing my knees aren't as cold as your feet."

The slacker got off at the next stop.

AVIATOR FRANK SHEA

Now in France Writes Interesting Letter to a Friend in This City.

The following letter was received recently by a friend of Mr. Frank Shea and who has kindly given us permission to publish its contents: "Second Aviation Inst Center" Tours, France.

My Dear Friend:
Your letter of May 1st received a few days ago. Would have answered much sooner but have been waiting to get some prints and films which are being developed so that I could send you a small snap shot of myself but after waiting these few days and the prints have not been returned as yet thought it best to write now and send the pictures later.

Still see that the boys are going away at about the same rate of speed as ever. Guess that by the time winter comes all of the younger boys will have all gone into some branch of the service or will have been drafted.

Suppose that you have heard of my "Kid" brother Henry, who was going to University of Pennsylvania, had enlisted in Coast Artillery and is now at Fort Totten, N. Y. He says he likes army life fine.

Guess that you will be somewhat surprised to notice this letter headed Tours, France. Well now we are allowed and requested to have our mail addressed to us at the town or city in which we receive mail. Tours is a very large city and is located on River Loire, which is called the Mississippi in France, being the longest river in France.

Guess you remember me mentioning some time ago about being located in a small town, well this town was St. Malzent in State Deux Serves in South Western France. Also have been through Paris on different occasions. Believe me it sure is some good looking city. Almost no end of the most beautiful buildings one could ever wish to see.

Have also been rather close to the Boche, could hear the big guns banging away all day and night. Am now in Tours and everything is going just fine with me.

Guess by the time this letter reaches you will have received my commission as First Lieutenant. Trusting that you and your mother and father are well will close.

Yours sincerely,
FRANK A. SHEA.

Miss May Liston of East Front street left yesterday afternoon for a few days' visit in Cincinnati.
